Silvia Lopez Estrada, Ph.D.

Caregiving Across the Border: Mexican Women Transmigrants in San Diego

Tuesday, Feb. 19, 7-9 pm

Location: Storm Hall 101

Border cities like Tijuana give women the opportunity of work in the U.S. while studying, working and living in their city of residence. However, women’s experiences as caregivers are heterogeneous and linked to inequalities produced by their migration status, age and gender and ethnicity issues. Based on the narratives of some interviewees, this talk will analyze the diverse transborder lives and labor of care workers.

For event updates, visit our website: WomensStudies.sdsu.edu or like us on Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/WomensStudies.SDSU